WPI offers a variety of institutional merit scholarships to admitted students each year. All applicants for admission are automatically considered for general merit scholarships, including the Presidential, Chemistry and Biochemistry Scholars, and Marshall/Chavez/Means Scholarship. In addition, WPI is pleased to also offer a number of specialty merit scholarships to admitted students, including the Foisie Scholars Program, Global Scholars Program, and NCSSMST Scholarship Program.

While all applicants for admission are automatically considered for all scholarships, students wishing to strengthen their candidacy for the WPI specialty merit scholarships may submit the WPI Merit Scholarship Supplement Form as well as additional letters of reference.

More information on the WPI Merit Scholarship Program and the selection criteria can be found at admissions.wpi.edu/Costs/scholarships.html.
